

Meletti

Anisetta

The Ditta Silvio Meletti was founded way back in 1870 by Silvio Meletti who, after a long series of studies in the field of distillation and research in the field of raw materials, developed a particular recipe and a meticulous production process that allows him to obtain a one-of-a-kind product: Anisetta Meletti. Together with Anisetta, various bitters, elixirs, vermouths and other liqueurs make the Meletti name popular throughout Italy and the world and lead Silvio Meletti to win gold medals at the most prestigious international fairs. In 1879 King Umberto I granted the Meletti Company the coveted patent of "Supplier of the Royal Household". 153 years after their birth, Meletti liqueurs are still produced by their descendants with the systems studied and imposed by the founder, continuing to obtain appreciation and recognition throughout the world. In 2021 the Italian Patent and Trademark Office recognized Meletti as a Historic Trademark of National Interest

Tasting notes Excellent aromatic intensity, round, floral and fruity taste without aggressive notes. The aftertaste is very persistent and extremely elegant.

Production The production process takes place through discontinuous distillation of green anise seeds and other natural aromas, such as seeds or fruits, which represent the secret of the recipe and which determine the elegant aroma of the liqueur. A syrup of water and refined sugar is added to the distillate after which it is aged in the company's steel barrels where it must rest for several months before becoming ready for bottling.

Uses Inimitable and satisfying alone, it can also be enjoyed on the rocks, with the fly (3 roasted coffee beans immersed in the glass), iced, excellent for ennobling coffee, for flavoring desserts or enriching fruit salads. As an aperitif diluted with ice water or soda. Become the protagonist of cocktails and long drinks to amaze friends or guests at a social event.
